Pantry FAQs

What do I need to do to access the pantry?
All Boise State students are invited to access the campus pantry, just bring your student ID card. Feel free to visit the pantry as often as needed.

Where is the pantry?
The pantry is in the Dean of Students office, Suite 120 in the Campus School building (often referred to as the art classroom building). The building is located between University Dr. and the Interactive Learning Center (ILC). Sometimes our location can be tricky to find, here is a map of our location.

When is the pantry open?
It depends, as the pantry will be open whenever the Dean of Students office is open. This includes spring break, summer break, and some weeks during winter break. The pantry is open at 8:15am and closes at 4:45pm.

What if I do not like the items in the pantry?
This is great information for us to know because we aim to serve YOU. Please let us know how we can improve your experience.

I would like to donate items for the pantry, how do I do this?
That is awesome . . . thank you for your generosity! Check out our list of needed items. For delivery, please check in at the front desk in the Dean of Students office, and our office assistants will direct you to where you can place your donated items. For larger donations, please call ahead at (208) 426-1527 or email campusfoodpantry@boisestate.edu to coordinate a drop-off time.

I am interested in donating financially to the pantry.
We now have a financial donation link on our website. All financial gifts go directly to the Full Broncos Food Insecurity initiatives through University Advancement. These financial gifts allow us to purchase nutritional food products that are recommended by our campus dietician.

Does my product donation or financial gift count as a tax write-off?
Great question; and yes, any type of donation can be counted as a tax write-off. For more information, please contact Alicia Clapier of University Advancement at (208-426-2565).
